

Quality Advisors Report

Comments on management systems including good practice

All candidates are registered with City and guilds as soon as they start at the Centre, the Centre management support their staff to keep developing their own CPD. Very impressed with the quality of this centres management system and also the quality of teaching/training Assessing and the Internal Verification system. The Candidates in there own chosen trade have a quality learning programme right through the qualification.

Comments on resources including good practice

All hand tools and equipment is to a high standard, good quality materials are used and excellent trade practices are being taught supported by selected trade video's including Health and Safety plus demonstrations by the Centre Staff all safety equipment being used by the Candidates and Centre staff, all wearing the correct PPE.

Comments on candidate support including good practice

Good quality theory being taught during the practical sessions and also stand alone theory lessons, with excellent trade practices being taught by the staff. Candidates assess their own practical work before the Assessor marks the work all recorded correctly. The candidates can have one to one support if required

Comments on assessment and verification including good practice

Good use of the Underpinning Job Knowledge Questions set at the correct level for the award, good use of photographic evidence one setoff questions for each unit with Health and Safety included and a basic calculation question. All City and Guilds test booklets completed to a very good standard.

Comments on records including good practice

This was my first visit after the Centre gained Scheme Approval, I must add that it was a pleasure to visit and I was very impressed with the quality shown right through the award.

First Class work produced by the Candidates, which is reflected by the effort and dedication from all the Centre Staff.

Please Note: No action plan required for this centre, please allow all certification claims.
